Summary

I'm a full-stack developer specializing in crafting dynamic SPAs with React and building robust backend systems using Express along with Node.js. I focus on creating reusable components, managing state efficiently with React Context, developing and integrating secure, seamless APIs to deal with Databases. Passionate about delivering user-centric, responsive applications, I collaborate effectively to bring creative ideas to life. Aspiring to grow in a top MNC, I strive to deliver impactful projects while continuously expanding my expertise across the full stack.
